THE OLDEST MISSIONARY IN CHINA.

Yesterday, says the "Peking Daily News" of the 11th inst., in a contributed article, Dr. W. A. P. Martin celebrated his eighty-seventh birthday. This was quite a notable event as he is the oldest Missionary living in China. The Chinese-American Association had been for sometime past collecting letters from some of Dr. Martin's many friends, and on Friday morning presented the good Doctor with a shower of letters. Many friends in Peking, both Chinese and foreign, sent their good wishes. The Americans in Tientsin sent a united letter of congratulation. A number of elaborate Chinese scrolls were also presented to Dr. Martin. One from a member of the Chinese-American Association read: "Wishing that your life may long continue to give light to both Chinese and Americans."

Two beautiful scrolls were presented to Dr. Martin by President Yuen Shih-kai. One read: "Most distinguished in law and government." The other read: "Nourished and in harmony with heaven he has attained great age." The President also sent a beautiful sheet with four large characters on it reading: "Hsin Hsi Ch'ing Ying" which means "His learning is like the ocean, in old age he is still vigorous."

It is a pleasure to see Dr. Martin in his vigorous old age and to remember what he has done for China. He is still interested in all things Chinese, and cannot speak too highly of what China has done in her great battle against opium.

Dr. Martin's friends in Peking, and all over China wish him a happy and prosperous new year.

AN M.P.'S CHALLENGE.

"Not to a Duel, but to an English Fight."

It was announced in "The Daily News" recently that Major Archer-Shoe, the Unionist member for Central Finsbury, had sent to Mr. Flavin, a Nationalist member, a letter which, as stated, amounted to a challenge to a duel, arising out of an incident in the House.

In connection with the incident Major Archer-Shoe sent the following telegram to "The Star":

"The report published this morning that I sent a challenge to a duel to Mr. Flavin is not true. The only challenge was to fight it out at a certain address owing to Mr. Flavin persisting in calling me 'an unmitigated coward' and making other offensive observations."

To a "Star" reporter Major Archer-Shoe subsequently stated that what he wished Mr. Flavin to do was to meet him "in the English way" and not in the foreign way, and that the proposed venue was his own chambers.

How the affair arose is told by Major Archer-Shoe in another communication to the Press. Mr. Dillon in his speech made a remark about Irish-Americans, and Major Archer-Shoe interrupted by calling them "foreigners." Thereupon Mr. Flavin called him an "arrant coward," and repeated the observation. The Major requested him to come into the Lobby to explain what he meant. Mr. Flavin declined, and then the Major wrote him a letter of the nature indicated above.

The Melbourne correspondent of the "Central News" states that Dr. May and the American explorer, who married recently to Miss Delprat, the daughter of a millionaire, whom he wooed by wireless in the Antarctic.

serious efforts to prevent it. Alsace and Lorraine were lost; but never again must French territory fall to the lot of a Continental Power, no matter how numerically stronger that Power's army might be. If such deficiency is counter-balanced—and it is probably more than counter-balanced—by such Ententes as exist between the British, French and Russian nations, so much the better for all concerned, and so much the better also for the peace of Europe. Great Britain is actuated in no way by a spirit of animosity towards Germany in forming part of these Ententes. The necessities of the hour demand them, and shall continue to demand them so long as Germany persists in piling up vast armaments heedless of invitations for a saner policy. From Germany's point of view, doubtless, vast armaments must precede the acquisition of vast and world-wide expansion. Doubtless it must be so in these days when all new colonisation is a thing of the past. It can, however, be accomplished only at the expense of a tremendous upheaval, and for the sake of our boasted civilization, surely the spirit of the times is against such a catastrophe.

Meantime, the British nation will also rejoice with the Germans that there is at present no probability of a formal Alliance being formed between France and Great Britain. Such an alliance is unnecessary, so long as the Entente is as genuine as it unquestionably is. The understanding between the nations forming the triple Entente is much the same as that existing between the nations—Germany, Austria and Italy—forming the Triple Alliance, with this important difference that, Great Britain desires nothing more from the Entente than that peace should prevail in the interests of all, while Germany wishes nothing more from the Triple Alliance than aid to her further European development and colonial expansion.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

The "Daily Telegraph's" account of the "Variety" Sports (March 27) is reproduced on pages 3 and 4.

The French cruiser Dupleix arrived this afternoon and the Chinese flagship Hai Chi came in yesterday.

A Chinese, who returned from luncheon, was sentenced to six months' imprisonment by Mr. Melbourne today.

As advertised on page 10, the Hongkong Electric Co.'s 25th Ordinary General Meeting will be held in the Company's Offices on May 14.

From the latest Home Football results on page 5 of this issue it will be seen that Liverpool and Burnley are left in the Final of the Association Cup.

Mr. A. Fong, photographer, Queen's Road, has sent us a number of excellent photos of the Hongkong Schools Sports which were held last Monday.

The confidence trick enabled a Chinese to extort from a married woman, living at Sung Hing Street, two gold rings valued at $14 yesterday.

Mrs. George, of No. 5, Minden Villas, Kowloon, has reported the theft of a silver wrist watch valued at $20 from her bedroom on Wednesday.

For being in possession of 32 "official" doses of cocaine, being 20 in excess of what he was permitted to retain, a Chinese was today fined $100 or six months.

With reference to the cinematograph matinee at the Theatre Royal to-morrow afternoon, we have been asked to state that amuse accompanying children will be admitted at half price.

Families of British troops in garrison, commencing on May 20th, will have a special luncheon placed at their disposal on Wednesdays and Saturdays. It will leave the A.S.O. Pier at 3.45 p.m., arrive Stonecutters at 4.40 and return at 5.55, reaching A.S.O. Pier at 8.45 p.m. The arrangements for the trips up to June 3rd, are to be made by the R.G.A.

It is announced that regiments' bathing will commence on May 18th. A government launch will be available daily except Sundays, leaving A.S.O. Pier for Stonecutters at 4 p.m., and returning at 6.45 p.m. Mondays and Fridays; and leaving the R.A. Tuesdays and Thursdays to 2nd D.C.L.I. and Wednesdays and Saturdays to 3rd, R.E., A.S.O. and Departments.

While the match above referred to was in progress B. Hancock and Mrs. Beavis (now 16) defeated J. B. Wood and Mrs. Turnbull (now 15) 6-2, 7-5, 6-3 in the mixed doubles handicap.

The "N.C. Daily News" regrets to learn of the death of Sir Hamilton de Saussure's mother, which took place at Home.

2nd Lieut. R.H.A. Kellie, 83rd Company, R.G.A. is under orders to proceed to Peking with a detachment of R.G.A. for duty at the British Legation. The party proceeded early in May.

ALLEGED THEFT OF LEAD.

A JUNK'S "SECRET COMPARTMENT."

At the Police Court yesterday a junk master and his two boys again appeared on a charge connected with the alleged larceny of 14 bars of lead from the s.s. Aladenham. The first defendant was a Chinese charged with having a secret compartment in his junk. Mr. D. Lewis (of Messrs. Johnson, Stokes and Mather), who prosecuted, explained that the secret compartment was really a double-bulk head, and the entrance was so fastened up that it appeared to be part of the ship. It ran the whole width of the vessel, and was large enough to contain people. This was very often found in junks in the Harbour. He explained that the first defendant was engaged to remove 191 bars of lead from the Aladenham to the Choy Sang. The defendant disputed the tallying, and said there were 14 bars too many on the tally. As the result of driving operations of the Police pier, where the junk had been lying, 12 bars of lead had been recovered.

The accused were remanded.

SPORTING.

HONGKONG JOCKEY CLUB.

Members a reminder of the half-yearly meeting called for 12.30 to-morrow at the offices of the Jockey Club, on the ground floor of the Hongkong Club Annex.

BILLIARDS.

This match was played at the Garrison Sergeant-Major, Queen's Road, last night. The finalists were Conductor Chamberlain, A.O.C. (over 100) and Staff Sergeant Foster, A.O.C. (over 200). The game was 130 up plus handicap. Foster gained a lead early in the game but at no time did he make sufficient headway to suggest his winning. The scores were level at 62 and 102, and although Foster played a pretty game and made a number of double-figure breaks, Chamberlain did almost as well. At 200 Foster was leading by only twenty-five, after which he made breaks of 13, 13, and 19 in a few visits to the table which brought his score to 313, thirty-five from game when Chamberlain ran to his points, and won the hand cap. Breaks—Chamberlain, 19, 14, 13, 12, 11, Foster, 19, 13, 14, 14, 13, 13, 13, 11.

Result—Conductor Chamberlain (over 100) 2-0.

Staff Sergeant Foster (over 200) 3-15.

SOLDIERS' CLUB TOURNAMENT.

The match between the Hongkong Volunteers and Royal Engineers (B) was continued at the Soldiers' Club last night. Mr. Bishop, Hongkong Volunteers, and "Sapper" Allen, R.E. (B) were the first pair to occupy the table. Bishop did not play his usual good game, and Allen led all through. 59 to 23 was about the margin between them until 200, when Bishop's score stood at 188. Allen played well to the finish, eventually winning by 41 points. Breaks—Allen, 21, 20, 13, 12, 12, 11, Bishop, 14, 11, 13, 13, 13, 11, 11, 11. Scores—Sapper Allen, R.E. (B), 250; Mr. Bishop, Hongkong Volunteers, 229.

The lead having been reduced somewhat, Sapper Hill R.E. (B) met Mr. Sutherland, Hongkong Volunteers. Play was even up to the 59 mark when Sutherland was two points in front, after which Hill played finely, seldom making a faulty shot and scoring freely all round. A fine contribution of thirty took him well in front and at 150 he was 64 ahead which he increased to nearly 90. Though Sutherland was playing unobtrusively he was enabled, by his opponent's inability to continue playing well, to get within a few points of him. Hill ultimately won by the small margin of 13 points. Breaks—Hill, 20, 20, 12, 11. Sutherland, 21, 21, 14, 13, 13, 11, 11. Scores—Sapper Hill, R.E. (B), 250; Mr. Sutherland, Hongkong Volunteers, 257.

Mr. St. Martin now lead by 81 points, the team scores being—

Hongkong Volunteers, 946.
R.E. (B), 865.

Lawn Tennis.

CHERRY MEATS NISBET.

A. H. Nisbet, the Hongkong C.C. champion, was severely defeated last evening by Green, the Kowloon champion in the semi-final of the Club's clay handicap. Green scoring 6-2, 6-3. Unusual interest attached to the tie inasmuch as Green is so well in the running of the championship singles that he will in all probability be the challenger of Nisbet's title. Should Green get through two rounds which still intervene, on last night's play he will be strongly fancied. He played a stronger game throughout than Nisbet, setting the pace from start to finish. The game though not brilliant was fast and was confined almost entirely to long driving, in which Green particularly excelled. He put a lot of pace into his returns and found the base line equally well with backhand and with forehand drives. His backhand placing to the side lines caught the champion unawares on many occasions. There was very little net play; the few volleys exchanged were on the whole in Green's favour, but on the other hand he found some difficulty in picking up Nisbet's short slices, and on the few occasions that the champion was given a chance to smash he did so effectively. There was little in the handicaps, Green owing 153 and Nisbet 302.

While the match above referred to was in progress B. Hancock and Mrs. Beavis (now 16) defeated J. B. Wood and Mrs. Turnbull (now 15) 6-2, 7-5, 6-3 in the mixed doubles handicap.

EUROPEAN POLICE- MAN CHARGED.

FINED $100 FOR ABSENCE.

Before Mr. Wood this morning, Sidney Harry Goodwin, aged 29 years, a police constable, No. 117, attached to the Central Police Station, was charged with absconding himself from duty from Wednesday night until Thursday afternoon.

Deputy Superintendent King prosecuted, and the defendant was represented by Mr. Deans, of Messrs. Denny and Bowley.

Defendant pleaded guilty and Mr. Deans said he had nothing to say in extenuation, but there was a special circumstance which he would like to put before his Worship. Defendant had only been in the police force about a year and on the day in question had been to a party and had apparently had a "drop too much." Of course, he knew that was no excuse but he would ask the Magistrate to deal leniently with him on that account.

Deputy Supt. King said these men came out from home to join the force and on arriving here they found a better job or other inducement which led them to want to leave the force and instead of paying three months' money they preferred to be reported a few times and be dismissed with a small fine as might be the case in this instance. Defendant had been dealt with leniently on previous occasions.

Mr. Wood imposed a fine as stated of $100.

STAR FERRY SUMMONED.

Charge of Overcrowding Dismissed.

The Marine Magistrate, Commander Basil Taylor, R.N., at the Marine Court this morning heard a summons brought against the Star Ferry Company, Ltd., by P. C. Deplow, charging them with overcrowding the Southern Star at 7.30 on the evening of April 16. The summons, taken against Leung So, master of the boat, alleged sixteen passengers in excess of the number allowed by the licence.

Mr. H. W. Looker (Deacon, Looker, Deacon and Harston), defended.

P. C. Deplow stated that in company with a Chinese detective he counted the passengers as they left the ferry boat on the Hongkong side. There were 203 Chinese on the third class and 120 on the first class, while the licence allowed 320, including 12 crew. There were therefore 16 persons in excess.

In answer to Mr. Looker, witness said he was instructed to count the passengers by this particular boat. He counted those on the first class and the detective counted the third class. There was nobody on the wharf except the ticket collector. He knew all the people had travelled on the ferry because he saw them leave the gangway.

Li Wei, detective, said he counted 203 third class passengers. In answer to Mr. Looker he said they did not rush off, but left one after the other. He could count them all right.

Mr. Looker, addressing his Worship, said the case was of considerable importance to the company owing to the position it occupied in the passenger trade between Hongkong and Kowloon. It was naturally of importance to the company that no alarm should be created in the minds of the public owing to danger arising from overcrowding. Until the full train service came into force there was no danger of overcrowding but since it became apparent to the company that there might be a danger they had begun to count the passengers. This was begun as far back as January and since the opening of the new ferry wharf special men had been employed to count passengers as they went on board and a return was sent to the office showing the number carried. According to the record there were 110 first class and 180 third class passengers on the Southern Star on the evening in question, well below the number the company was entitled to carry.

Mr. Thomas W. Robertson, superintendent engineer of the Star Ferry Company, said the company recently began to take records of the number of third class passengers using the evening ferry boats and about the time of the Ching Ming festival on the 6th or 7th of this month they began to take special precautions. An inspector counted the passengers as they entered the gateway, and instructions were given that not more than 200 passengers were to be allowed on board.

His Worship remarked that the precautions were "excellent" but inquired whether the witness could say if they were carried out.

Witness replied that he was on the wharf most evenings personally and had often seen people refused passage on the boats because they were full.

Mr. Looker said that he had several other witnesses.

His Worship intimated that he did not wish to hear further evidence and in dismissing the summons said in such a way by the police that there was possibly an error. If the regulations described were carried out there need be no apprehension about the safety of passengers.

He did not impute anything to the police, but with a count of this kind there was likely to be a mistake made.

ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE.

OLD BOYS' ASSOCIATION GATHERINGS.

St. Joseph's College Old Boys' Association closed its first year's activities yesterday with its annual meeting, followed by a dinner at the college which was attended by a large number of members and visitors.

In his address at the annual meeting Mr. H. Dixon, president of the association, said the balance to the credit of the accounts from October 8, the date when association was formed, to December 31st, 1913, was $33.05 after deducting $200 of the "Old Boys' Scholarship fund," which was especially contributed for that purpose. He hoped that, out of future subscriptions, there would be sufficient surplus to set apart a portion towards this fund, so that a large enough amount would be accumulated, which, when placed on fixed deposit, would yield sufficient yearly interest to pay for the scholarships provided in the association rules. Their thanks were due to the gentlemen who, at the committee's invitation, delivered instructive lectures; and to their patron, Bishop Pozzoni, for presiding at every one of the lectures. The attendance at these meetings had not always been as large as it might have been. They would have learnt, with regret, of the departure of Rev. Bro. Adrian, the sudden news of whose transference to the Federated Malay States came as a shock to them. That Bro. Adrian, no better friend or more practical sympathiser could be found; he was ever ready with words of advice and encouragement, and took a keen personal interest in the working of the association. An old friend had come to take up the reins of administration relinquished by Bro. Adrian. One of Bro. Peter's first acts after his arrival in Hongkong was to invite the Committee to a round-table conference. This invitation was gladly accepted, among other subjects of interest discussed at the conference was that relating to a proposed boys' school for Kowloon. This proposal formed the subject of a report by certain members of the Association, resident at Kowloon, who were appointed a sub-committee at the request of the Board of Catholic education of Hongkong to investigate the proposal and report. The matter was now receiving Bro. Peter's very earnest consideration and the Bro. Director held out every hope that the Kowloon School will become an accomplished fact before long.

The report and accounts were adopted, and officers were elected for the year.

THE DINNER.

Mr. H. Dixon presided at the dinner, and among the visitors present were Bishop Pozzoni, Sir Charles Elliot (Vice-Chancellor of Hongkong University), Mr. de Martin (Inspector of English schools), Bro. Director Peter, and a number of the Christian Brothers.

The toast of "The Pope and King," proposed by the Chairman, was accorded musical honours.

Mr. J. Grace Ozorio, submitting the toast of "Brothers of the Christian Schools," emphasised the self-sacrificing labours of the fraternity in the cause of education mentioning especially the good work they have accomplished in Hongkong.

Brother Director Peter, in response, said he believed the Christian Brothers were almost as universal as the Church itself. He wished they were more numerous in Hongkong, where there was much educational work to be done. He knew the Brothers had a large share of the education of the old boys. Emphasising the value of old boys' associations he said combination is the modern keynote of success, and those who cannot work together pay the penalty of failing disastrously. In conclusion he urged the members to do all they could in support of the University and its examinations, which have displaced the Oxford Locals.

Mr. E. J. Noronha, proposed "Our Guests." In the course of his speech he referred to the work of the Bishop and the Priests of the Catholic Mission, who have established schools, hospitals and chapels all over the City, the suburbs and the outlying districts. He also spoke in the highest terms of the University of Hongkong and its Principal, Sir Charles Elliot. He made a glowing reference to the success of the British administration, which success has been largely based upon its liberal system of education. The toast was coupled with the name of Mr. de Martin, the Inspector of English Schools. Mr. Noronha concluded with a tribute to the local Press and commented on their moderate tone and sound views. The toast was most enthusiastically received.

Mr. de Martin in response congratulated the old boys on the formation of the association, which was the natural complement of a school of any size. He was sure it would strengthen the hands of those responsible for the control of the school. Another reason why such associations were useful was that they gave the members opportunities of meeting on a less artificial basis their old masters.

Mr. J. M. Noronha, proposing "The Scouts and Bodyguard," said this was the very first occasion that a toast to the "Boy Scouts and Bodyguard" had ever appeared on a toast-list in Hongkong. To Major Bowen, the Chief Scout, the College owed the existence of the first troop of Boy Scouts in Hongkong. To Scout Master Edwards they were indebted for the drills and parades, and Messrs. Roylance and Bunjo, they had to thank for assistance in drilling the previous years. He mentioned the names of Mr. Brooks, but this did not imply that their appreciation of such a zealous instructing officer, was the least. It was by one of those happy coincidences that the rally of the troop took place that afternoon in accordance with the expressed instructions of the Chief Scout, Sir Robert Baden-Powell, that such a ceremony should be carried out on St. George's day. Mr. Noronha continued: Under officers such as St. Joseph's troop is fortunate enough to possess, the Scout movement, which is only in its infancy in Hongkong, cannot fail of success. We shall heartily welcome the growth and expansion of the movement so as to include every eligible school in Hongkong. This is a desideratum devoutly to be wished. The aggregate of eligible scouts from among the schools in the Colony—Government and denominational included, will represent a force which any Colony in the British Empire may be proud of. Hongkong, unquestionably, should have its district troops organised under administrative and executive committees affiliated to the association of which Sir Robert Baden-Powell is the famous chief. May the Scouts' movement succeed beyond all expectations and may Major Bowen, with whose name I will couple this toast, have the satisfaction of seeing and of taking part in the extension of the movement beyond the confines of St. Joseph's College.

Major Bowen in responding mentioned that steps are already being taken to commission a high officer of the Garrison as District Commissioner, and that when his warrant is received a district committee of all nationalities and denominations will be formed. Under the new scheme, he was glad to say, St. Joseph's troop would not lose its individuality.

The Shanghai Association was proposed by Mr. J. M. Noronha, and Mr. Cayulho who responded read a cordial message from members in the Settlement.

Mr. J. P. Bage proposed the health of the visitors.

Musical selections were played during the dinner by a string orchestra.

THE NEW CABLE.

Yesterday the final splice was made for the new and direct cable from Singapore to Hongkong for the Eastern Extension Telegraph Co. The splice took place at a point 200 miles south of Hongkong. With the establishment of this section the new Adam-Hongkong cable is completed. After returning to Hongkong for the cable, which will return to London.

Doubtless, this will result in the strengthening of the British through cable system and should make for an improved service and accelerated transmission.

SCOTTISH SPORT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Edinburgh, March 31.

Under present conditions a club unworthy of the honour may so easily gain the so-called Rugby Championship that it is a pleasure to find Watsonians in occupation of the first place. This season no great injustice has been done to any side, but there is no guarantee that in future a deserving club may not find itself deprived of the position of pride simply through the lack of definition in the methods of determining merit. A reform in the method of finding the first place among the Rugby clubs is urgently required, and there is reason to believe that the Union will shortly take the matter in hand.

ASSOCIATION.

There is to be an Irish final in the Scottish Cup—Celtic of Glasgow facing Hibernians of Edinburgh. Whatever chance Third Lanark had of repeating their Glasgow Cup victory against Celtic was dispelled by the strenuous midweek fight they put up against Stenacaton United. They showed signs of staleness in every section, and the host team easily won. St. Mirren lived up to their reputation as strong finishers, but there was quite two goals between the teams on play, the margin by which Hibernians went into the final.

Farwell Banquet.

A great farwell banquet will be held at the Quai D'Orsay. The King specially sent for the winners of the officers' race and personally congratulated them. The return to Paris was made amidst renewed enthusiasm.

CORRESPONDENCE.

THE GOVERNMENT AND THE PUBLIC.

(To the Editor of the "China Mail.")

Dear Sir,—May I be allowed space for a few brief comments upon the very unsatisfactory answer of the Government to my Fourth Question, at yesterday's Meeting of the Legislative Council?

The efforts of the Government to supplement the deficiency (which admittedly existed) in numbers in the Staff of Officers of the Government Civil Hospital have resulted, after a delay of over 9 months, in complete failure.

So far, however, from being disturbed by this result, the Government now deliberately rejects the operation in the Unofficial Members of the Council and of the Public whom they represent and purposely keeps them, so far as possible, in the dark.

Yours faithfully,

H. E. POLLOCK.

THE WAR AGAINST RABIES.

The war against rabies in dogs in Hong Kong and Kowloon has commenced and many dogs have been sent to the pound and others have been destroyed. From the central district yesterday five dogs were sent to the pound. One dog in Wellington Street was shot and the carcass removed to await examination by the Colonial Veterinary Surgeon. From the Western district four dogs were sent to the pound. The Western Police yesterday seized and destroyed one dog in Nathan Road. Kowloon an English dog, 15 animals were destroyed yesterday. The police are also doing it so that many dogs and dogs in the district be kept overnight and destroyed the next day. Clean skinned European dogs are kept reasonable time to allow owners to claim them.

A STOWAWAY FROM SHANGHAI.

In Mr. Wood's court yesterday morning, an American citizen named Morten Havens was charged with being a stowaway on board the s.s. Yang Chow. The vessel was plying between Shanghai and Hongkong and left the former port on the 19th inst. at 5.30 a.m. Seven hours later Captain Williams' boy went to the master and told him there was a man on board who wanted "chow." The captain sent for him and asked him how he came on board. He replied that on the night previous to leaving Shanghai, he went on board with a destitute British seaman, named Slade, who was being sent by the British Consulate at Shanghai to Hongkong. He admitted carrying him off.

The ship's log and defendant was not in the other man's cabin when he served breakfast at 8 o'clock. Prisoner had no clothing or money and was apparently destitute.

Defendant said directly he realised his position he went to the captain and reported himself. The captain told him he would have to report him to the authorities.

Defendant was sentenced to one month's imprisonment.

AN IMPROBABLE RASCAL.

The destitute British seaman mentioned in the above case was before Mr. Bush Taylor at the Marine Court this morning on a charge of disobeying the lawful commands of the ship's officer. His name is L. Slade 29 years of age.

Soon after leaving Shanghai the defendant entered the passengers' saloon and had a drink. He was told to leave. He then threatened one of the boys, and was warned by the Captain that unless he behaved he would be put in chains. Later, the Chief Officer had occasion to remonstrate with the defendant for being in the passengers' saloon and the defendant then used an oath and swore that he would murder the Chief Officer and then jump overboard and commit suicide. The defendant was put in chains, and it took six of the crew to do it.

Defendant: Did you not threaten me with iron before I had two minutes conversation with you?

Witness: No.

Defendant: You told me if I did not leave the saloon alone you would put me in irons. What had I done?

The Magistrate: You had refused to obey the lawful commands of the ship's officer.

Defendant said that, when he was threatened with iron he lost his temper and got out of control, but he had no intention of carrying out those threats.

The Magistrate: You think you were put on board to command, and that the officers should be your servants.

Defendant: I was doing no wrong.

"You refused to obey the commands," said the magistrate.

Defendant (impudently): That is no offence.

The Magistrate: That is for me to decide.

Defendant said that according to the regulations of the Board of Trade the captain should have read from the log the offence with which he was charged before he left the ship.

Captain WILLIAMS: He was not a member of the ship.

The captain said he would like to ask the defendant why he made all these disturbances. He had good food and a nice room.

Defendant said he complained about the way he was threatened to be put in irons. He had done nothing wrong.

The Magistrate: Are you in the habit on any ship of walking into the saloon and demanding a drink?

SCOTTISH LETTER.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
EDINBURGH, March 31.

DR. CHARLES MACKEY.

The centenary of Dr. Charles Mackay, one of the best known journalists in the world, was celebrated in the City of Perth, his birthplace, and by the Clan Mackay Society of Edinburgh and Glasgow. Mackay was born in Perth, Scotland, and was a member of the "Aristocracy of merit" who appeared themselves to the "Aristocracy of merit" was celebrated at the end of last week in the City of Perth, his birthplace, and by the Clan Mackay Society of Edinburgh and Glasgow. Mackay was born in Perth, Scotland, and was a member of the "Aristocracy of merit" who appeared themselves to the "Aristocracy of merit" was celebrated at the end of last week in the City of Perth, his birthplace, and by the Clan Mackay Society of Edinburgh and Glasgow.

Mackay was a versatile and prolific writer, but little of the work of his "long day" will survive. He seems to have recognised this, for he complains that his "worst has been the most popular, and his best has received slight or no recognition." The truth is, as is pointed out by Rev. P. B. Landreth in the "Glasgow Herald," like many another able man, Mackay was not the best judge of his own work. His songs not merely hit the popular fancy when associated with telling music, but breathe a healthy optimism which asserts that people must have something to live or be for if they are to do their best. A mere list of Mackay's writings astonishes one by its length, and their substance surprises by its variety. As a Scottish writer remarked of a fellow sheep's head, Mackay's books are "a fine mass of confused feeling." The reader can pass swiftly from "The Anti-Corn Law and Free Trade Party" to "Memoirs of Sir Walter Scott and his Monument," or from "The Burns Festival" to the "Sunday Question in Scotland."

That Mackay was affected by the faith of the first fifty years of the nineteenth century in what was called "altruism" can hardly be denied. Declaration was too often mistaken for oratory, and rhetoric for relevant and brisk thinking. The appeal to ignorance was to be found in Parliament, pulpit, and academic chairs, and at the Bar. What may be described as a literary career, which he pursued vigorously till his death at the age of 75, Mackay was a versatile and prolific writer, but little of the work of his "long day" will survive. As a Scottish writer remarked of a fellow sheep's head, Mackay's books are "a fine mass of confused feeling." The reader can pass swiftly from "The Anti-Corn Law and Free Trade Party" to "Memoirs of Sir Walter Scott and his Monument," or from "The Burns Festival" to the "Sunday Question in Scotland."

The late Mr. John Stuart MacGill, known as a much-writer, he rather despised "Cheer, Boys, Cheer," "The Miller of Dee," and "There's a good time coming, boys," yet these songs keep his memory green better than his more ambitious "Eggs," "The Lullaby of Gold," and "A Man's Heart." One feature of his career as a journalist deserving notice was his zeal, in and out of season, in urging the necessity of the education of the people. He advocated, many years before the passing of the Education Act, the claims of free education, and he laid stress upon the State concerning itself both with the mind and body of men, women, and children.

AN ECENTRIC WILL.

A QUEER QUARREL.

Before Mr. Wood this morning, Mager Smith, a private in the Hazara Mountain Battery, was charged with assaulting a Chinese woman at Tamai yesterday. It appears that prisoner and a number of other Indians were sent out to collect stones, etc., with which to make a garden. They commenced to pull up the legs of private pathway. The owners resented and a free fight ensued, the Indians using sticks, with the exception of prisoner, who was alleged to have used a piece of lead piping, and to have assaulted complainant. At this moment Sanitary Inspector Fletcher was passing in a ricksha and viewing the situation with alarm dismounted and dashed to the assistance of the Chinese. He arrested prisoner with the lead piping but the others got away. The case was adjourned till to-morrow to secure evidence for the defence.

Crossing; but when the settlement was considered worthy of a railway station and a post office they thought they ought to have a better name, and rechristened it Aberdeen. As to why it was named Aberdeen, I will give you this fact: Not far away in the same part of the world there is a school for girls, and 65 per cent. of the 400 or 500 girls attending that school three years ago when I happened to look at the catalogue began with "Mac." The Scots in the United States, he went on, stood for some qualities better than any other race of men. They did not conquer the people among whom they went by violence, but rather by persuasion, and if one looked around in the United States at the men whom one knew whose qualities, character, and leadership had become marked and looked back at their ancestry, one would be astonished to find how many of them had Scottish grandmothers. "What I wish to say is that in the United States, in which you have such enormous influence in the contribution of character to our population, you seem to me to stand for liberty, equality, and frugality. I mention frugality not in a reproachful sense, but in a sense for which we across the ocean are much indebted to you, and I think we, and all the world, all men, at least who have any sound economic sense ought to be grateful to you for. I repeat, I know no people who stand for the steadfast, old, much-loved, frugal, and economic character so well as the Scots; so, when I say that frugality is one of your cardinal virtues, I mean it as one of the highest compliments I can pay."

MR. HOGGE AND SETTING.
A racing tipster recently accepted a challenge made by Mr. Hogge, M.P., in the course of a Sunday afternoon address on gambling. Mr. Hogge offered to multiply by 100 any winnings accruing from following the racing prophets for a month. The proceeds were to go to a local charity, and it was agreed that the bet should be no more than a shilling on each horse. The test has just been completed. The racing expert who got into touch with the members for Epsom, Epsom, gave forecasts of 173 races. There were 39 winners, 29 losers, and 55 non-starters. The financial adjustment showed that the expert had lost 4s. 6d.

ONCE AGAIN.
The Secretary for Scotland has been presented with statements and documents in support of an application for inquiry into the case of Oscar Slater. No official statement is made, but it is understood that the application has been granted. It will be remembered that Oscar Slater, an Austrian Jew, was sentenced to death for the murder of an old lady, Miss Gilchrist, in her flat at West Princes Street, Glasgow, in December 1908, and that he was subsequently reprieved, the sentence being commuted to one of penal servitude for life. The points upon which statements will be submitted at the inquiry are:—(1) Did any witness to the identification on the night of the murder name a person other than Oscar Slater? (2) Was the police aware that such was the case? If so, why was the evidence not forthcoming at the trial? (3) Did Slater fly from justice? (4) Were the police in possession of information that Slater had disclosed his name at the North-Western Hotel, Liverpool, stating where he came from, and that he was travelling by the Lusitania? (5) Did one of the witnesses make a statement to the date on which he stated she was in West Princes Street?

SIR HUGH SHAW-STEWART, Bart. of Ardgowan, has presented the Bakery Park, extending to 26 acres, to the Town Council of Greenock.

At the spring graduation of Aberdeen University, the Hon. Walter Hines Page, Ambassador to the United States of America, and Mr. Cook, M.A., late Principal of the Central College, Bangalore, received the degree of LL.D., and Mr. Henry Stephen, M.A., late Professor of Philosophy in the Scottish Churches Colleges, Ocala, received the degree of D.D.
